NEW LAWYER

Miss Mary Kathryn Ryan, daughter of Mr. John J. Ryan of Silver Street, is in Columbus today where she will be admitted to the Ohio bar after having successfully passed the state examination held last month. The ceremonies will be held in the supreme courtroom and the oath will be administered by Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall. Miss Ryan, who has been a teacher in Notre Dame academy in Cleveland for the last four years, plans to practice in that city.

DAUGHERTY'S TRIAL OPENS

Witnesses Separated as Former Banker's Hearing Is Started.

STATE OUTLINES CASE

Counsel Says Prosecution Will Seek To Prove "One Man" Bank Operation.

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Trial of Mal S. Daugherty on an indictment charging he misappropriated and abstracted funds from the Ohio State bank, of which he was president, got under way in court here today.

When court opened attorneys for the defendant, who is a brother of Henry Daugherty, former U. S. attorney general, moved that the witnesses be separated. The court granted the motion, and announced each side would be permitted to have one witness in the room.

The defense selected Harry Proctor, of Columbus, accountant, and the prosecution named Cecil O. Hall, of Cincinnati, state investigator, as the witnesses to remain in the courtroom. Daugherty's son, who will be a defense witness, was among those excluded from the hearing.

Prosecution Statement
Louis Sheldner, special counsel for the state, making the opening statement, said the prosecution would seek to prove the following points in the trial:

That the Ohio State bank was a "one man bank" and Mal S. Daugherty was the man; that through transactions during the past two years the defendant abstracted $30,000 from the bank's funds; that late in 1927 it was proposed to merge the Commercial bank and the Midland National bank, of which institutions Daugherty was president, and the Fayette County bank, of which Daugherty was a borrower; that the condition of the Midland and Fayette banks made the merger impossible under the state laws and that arrangements were made to have the Commercial purchase the Ohio State bank; that the capital stock of the bank was increased from $50,000 to $200,000; that Daugherty was president of the bank when it was closed in May, 1929.

Fire Destroys 7-Story Pittsburgh Building

By The Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11.—A spectacular fire, which could be seen for miles, destroyed a seven-story brick building in Upper Fifth avenue early today with damage estimated upwards of a quarter of a million dollars.

Six firemen were injured in fighting the flames, which broke out on the top floor of the structure occupied by the Reliable Trunk & Baggage company and the Specialty Furniture company.

REELECT DRY LEADER

By United Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—Dr. J. Knox Montgomery, of New Concord, president of Monticumban college, was reelected president of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league at the annual trustees' meeting here Tuesday. Plans were made for a state rally of the league here on April 13 and 14.

WAID DENIES ASKING CHANGE IN ROUTE 30

Former Highway Director Issues Statement Answering "Bad Faith" Charge.

REVIEWS CONTROVERSY

Makes Explanation in Behalf of Himself and Cooper.

By International News Service.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—Denial that he ever made a request for a change of federal route No. 30 in Ohio or made any recommendation "for or against" either the Harding highway or the Lincoln highway in connection with the route, was made here today by former State Highway Director Robert N. Waid.

In a lengthy statement, Waid explained the situation regarding the highways "in order that there may be no misunderstanding concerning our interests in these two national highways."

Waid took exception to a recently published news item which mentioned that Carl J. Gugler of Galion, president of the Harding Highway association, charged former Governor Myers Y. Cooper and the former highway director with bad faith in connection with route No. 30.

Refers to Markers
The state markers are now located on the Harding highway between Mansfield and Delphos. Citizens living along the Lincoln highway between these points want the route markers moved from their present location to the Lincoln highway," Waid declared.

"They claim a promise of several years' standing that this was to be done as soon as the Lincoln highway was paved for its entire distance between these terminal points."

Action of Predecessor
"With the evident desire to carry out this promise, my predecessor in office, petitioned the American Association of State Highway officials to change the markers from the Harding to the Lincoln highway," said Waid. "After assuming office, I withdrew this petition, which had not been acted on, and asked that no action be taken during my term of office except upon my recommendation. No action has been taken and the route markers still remain on the Harding highway."

Has the time approached for us to relinquish office, the citizens living along the Lincoln highway asked that we relocate the letter written by my predecessor, which I had withdrawn in 1929. Such action would leave the entire matter exactly as we found it. As we had seen fit to allow the route markers to remain where we found them there seemed to be no logical reason why we should not do likewise in the correspondence and legislation.

CHARITY FUND BALL

TICKET SALE HEAVY

Plans Completed for Event in Star Auditorium Thursday Night.

Plans are completed and everything is in readiness for the charity ball Thursday night in The Star auditorium sponsored by members of the Central Labor Union and Marion Local No. 531, American Federation of Musicians.

Reports on the sale of tickets by members of the various organizations and crafts which make up the Labor union assure a good attendance, according to J. A. Warwick general chairman of the committee in charge. Proceeds of the affair will be used in aiding the city's unemployed.

The entertainment is scheduled to start at 7:15 p. m. with a band concert by the Marion Municipal band. The band music will be interspersed with vocal numbers by the Shamrock quartet, an acrobatic act by Bonnie Lawrence, a ventriloquist act by Chester Craven and special vocal numbers by Mrs. Eugene H. Moore and Robert Swisher.

Arrangements have been made for both round and square dancing and music for these will be furnished by the Harding Hotel orchestra and Carroll Davidson's orchestra. Arrangements for the musical act in charge of a committee of which Carroll Davidson is chairman will be used in aiding the city's unemployed. The Municipal band is under the direction of Ned Parshall.

Harold Lloyd Jr. Gains in Incubator Home

By International News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 11.—Harold Lloyd Jr., incubator baby of the film comedian and Mildred Davis Lloyd, has gained another two and one-half ounces in weight, physicians at Good Samaritan hospital announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd celebrated the eighth anniversary of their wedding yesterday by visiting the child at its incubator home. The child now weighs three pounds five and one-half ounces and doctors say he is doing very well.

70 ARRESTED IN FRAT RAIDS

Liquor Reported Seized in Houses at University of Michigan.

TAKEN TO JUSTICE COURT

All Students Released with Orders To Appear Again Friday.

By The Associated Press.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 11.—Seventy University of Michigan students who were arrested early today in raids on five fraternity houses in which liquor was reported found were released on their own recognizance today without charges having been made against them.

The students were released when they appeared in justice court and were ordered to appear again Friday.

The five fraternities raided were Phi Delta Theta, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Theta Delta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Fifty-one quarts of whiskey and other liquors were reported seized.

Among those booked at police headquarters after the raids were: James O. H. Smith, Jr., of Lexington, Ky., captain of the 1930 football team; Douglas D. Cray of Warren, Pa.; G. W. Hitt of Urbana, O.; D. W. Holmes of Canton, O.; Dick Holt of Versailles, O.; G. G. Gaddis of Oil City, Pa.; and J. S. Sandchurch of Lakewood, O.

At the Phi Delta Theta house the police said they found two suitcases containing 12 quarts and 12 pints of whiskey. Ten quarts of whiskey and a half case of beer were seized at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house. Two suitcases filled with whiskey were reported found in the Kappa Sigma house, one suitcase of whiskey at the Theta Delta Chi house and six quarts of whiskey at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

EDISON HONORED ON 84TH ANNIVERSARY

Receives Nation's Greetings; Friends Gather for All-Day Observance.

By The Associated Press.
FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 11.—Thomas A. Edison received the "happy birthday" greetings of the nation today. The inventor, celebrating his 84th anniversary at his winter home here, took time off from his rubber experiments to attend in a general observance of the event.

While Florida and the city of Fort Myers prepared to pay the inventor a new and splendid homage by dedicating a new $500,000 bridge in his honor, Mr. Edison's friends gathered for a day-long observance.

Harvey S. Firestone, tire manufacturer and Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher, were among them. Governor Doyle E. Carlton of Florida, and Mayor Josiah Fish of Fort Myers were among those present for the ceremony.

Edison agreed to give an interview answering questions on hundreds of things, such as rubber, golf, the unemployment situation and politics.

Last night the inventor was guest of honor at an informal dinner tendered him by Mr. Firestone. There was no birthday cake and Edison ate nothing. One familiar figure at other Edison birthday celebrations was unaccounted for as the day started. It was Henry Ford, third member of the famed Edison-Ford Firestone triumvirate. No information of his whereabouts was available here.

MUST GUARD HEALTH
Edison Forced To Cut Working Day to 10 and 12 Hours.
By International News Service.
FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 11.—Thomas A. Edison, whose 84th birthday anniversary was celebrated here today, has not been feeling any too well of late. His condition, however, is in no sense serious, but he finds he must carefully guard his health and conserve his energy.

An indefatigable worker, Mr. Edison has been forced to cut his working hours to 10 and 12 hours a day. A year ago he devoted fully 14 hours a day to work. The time was when he worked 16 hours a day, and even longer.

Mr. Edison is afflicted with a rather weak stomach. For the last six years he has been on a milk diet. He has been subsisting on a glass of milk every two hours and has abstained from meat and vegetables. His milk is heated to a certain temperature.

It is understood on good authority that last Thursday the eminent surgeon Dr. E. J. Connelley, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, superintendent of a Battle Creek, Mich., sanitarium, called on Mr. Edison at Fort Myers and prescribed a new diet. Edison, however, has so far refused to change from his diet of milk exclusively.

Mr. Edison finds it difficult for him to keep on his feet for any great length of time. That explains why he has been in a reclining chair a good deal of late.

TRIPLETS AGAIN

LIBEL SUIT FILED

Chicago Mayor Accused Judge Lyle of Malicious Utterances.

By United Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—A libel suit for $100,000 and threats to put each other in jail or asylums were tossed into the scale today to enliven the bitter fight between Mayor Thompson and Judge Lyle. The suit, filed by Mayor Thompson, charged Judge Lyle with malicious utterances, was filed by Mayor Thompson against Judge Lyle, who two nights ago publicly accused Thompson of misappropriating funds collected for flood relief. Judge Lyle charged Thompson at the time to file suit and the mayor has not done so.

In a campaign address last night, Thompson told of the suit, declared that no man could "question his integrity and get away with it," charged that Lyle had committed "criminal libel" and said that if he could put him in jail for that he would imprison him "for being a moron."

CONFESSES PART

Edison Taxpayers Held in Connection with Ohio Bank Holdup.

LIMA, O., Feb. 11.—Garrett Cooper, 21, taxi driver, has admitted auto holdup, to accompany William Fernald of Springfield, to West Liberty a few weeks ago when Fernald is alleged to have held up the bank there.

Harry Winks, held here since Saturday, was turned over to Logan county authorities in connection with the same robbery when Sheriff Harvey Russell, Auglaize county, said that Winks admitted auto holdup, and Cooper to West Liberty. Russell also said Winks has been identified as driver of the car used by holdup men after the Wapakoneta bank robbery last Monday.

Richard Rex, 20, and Fernald are to be tried in Washington C. H. in connection with the robbery of the First National bank there on Jan. 27.

SLAYING OF POTTER CONTINUES UNSOLVED

Maze of "Tips" Fails To Disclose Vital Information on Cleveland Murder.

By The Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 11.—The slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter remained as great a mystery as it was when his body was found slumped on a davenport in an east side apartment Sunday night.

A maze of "tips" and questioning of a number of persons has failed to disclose who shot down the former councilman. After four persons had been questioned for eight hours and a former state senator had furnished what appeared for a time to be a promising lead, Detective Inspector Cornelius W. Cody today said the investigation was about back where it started.

Two persons, J. J. Radlich, also known as Gray, and Mrs. Betty Gray, tenants of the suite below the one in which Potter was slain, were held as witnesses after being questioned until early today. They said they heard a scuffle above them last night when Potter was killed. Fred C. Lash, custodian of the building, and his wife, also were questioned at length in the hope they could provide further clues to the identity of the mysterious "M. J. Markin" who reputed the murder outfit.

SEWER LABORER KILLED

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 11.—One laborer was killed and two others injured in the collapse of a sewer tunnel excavation early today. The men were working 39 feet underground and 30 feet from the opening of the tunnel when a prop gave way, loosening tons of rock and earth.

DRY LAW FIGHT IN FULL SWING AT COLUMBUS

First Hearing on Repeal Proposal Draws Capacity Crowd.

MANY ARGUMENTS HEARD

Coolidge, Wickersham and Other Notables Invited to Session Feb. 18.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—Prohibition overshadowed other issues before the Ohio general assembly today as a result of the first committee hearing last night on the Nipper resolution to repeal the dry amendment to the Ohio constitution.

Interest in the wet and dry issue was augmented by the announcement of Senator L. L. Marshall, Republican, of Cleveland, that he had invited George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's committee, and former President Calvin Coolidge, and other notables to attend a hearing Wednesday night, Feb. 18, on Marshall's resolution for a national constitutional convention to consider the question.

The house judiciary committee heard many arguments last night for and against the Nipper proposal.

The Anti-Saloon league, the Women's Christian Temperance union and many church organizations marshaled their forces for the first tilt over the question, while the Crusaders, an organization working for reform of the prohibition laws, presented arguments in behalf of repeal. So large was the crowd that a double room had to be provided for the spectators.

Chairman Charles H. Jones, Republican, of Jackson county, adjourned the meeting after three hours of debate and although no future dates for continuation of the discussion was assigned, it was indicated further testimony would be taken within a week.

The resolution by Representative Louis Nipper, Republican of Cincinnati, would provide that the people of the state vote on a proposal to repeal the state prohibition amendment next November.

OLDEST MARION BANKER 50 YEARS IN SERVICE

A. C. Edmondson of Fahey Bank Has Two Anniversaries To Celebrate.

A. C. EDMONDSON, 76, who recently celebrated his twenty-ninth anniversary as a member of the city sinking fund soon will have another birthday to celebrate. April 6 he will complete his fiftieth year in the banking business. He is Marion's oldest banker.

Associated with the Fahey Bank for 42 years, 13 as president, Mr. Edmondson has had a unique banking career. Unlike W. H. Schaffner, Marion's second oldest banker who retired a few weeks ago, lacking only a few months to make him a veteran of 50 years' banking experience, Mr. Edmondson did not start on the bottom rung of the ladder.

He spent 12 years in railroad work, rising to the position of agent, and in 1881 entered the Fahey bank as cashier after marrying Miss Julia Fahey, daughter of Timothy Fahey. Banking has not been Mr. Edmondson's only business venture. "On the side," as he puts it, he handled real estate business, building 200 homes in Marion. He has been in business of some nature or other 60 years.

Mr. Edmondson has been associated with nearly every sizeable civic venture, including the locating of many factories in Marion.

Traveling, dancing and swimming have been his three chief diversions. He has traveled to ... Continued on Page Eight

CHILD HIT BY AUTO DIES IN CITY HOSPITAL

Prospect Physician and Marion Man Hurt in West Center Street Crash.

DEATH IS FIRST OF YEAR

Police Make Investigations of Both Mishaps; Girl on Errand for Mother.

An eight-year-old Marion girl is dead today and two other persons are in city hospital as the result of traffic accidents here Monday and last night.

Jane Lates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lates of 290 East Center street, became the first accident victim of the year in Marion county when she died today at 2 p. m. in city hospital as the result of injuries sustained when she was struck, Monday at 4:30 p. m. by a machine driven by W. L. Schorr of 150 Merchant avenue.

Dr. R. H. Finckel of Prospect and John Burgen of Bellefontaine avenue are recovering in city hospital of injuries sustained when the Chevrolet coupe in which both were riding plunged off the road at the end of West Center street at the stockyards.

GIRL IS FIRST VICTIM
Jane Lates Heads List for County This Year.
The death of 8-year-old Jane Lates early this morning at city hospital marked the first traffic fatality in Marion county this year.

After the accident which occurred on South Main street, was taken to city hospital and at which reported that her injuries consisted of a fractured left leg and a deep cut on her forehead. The attending physician announced this morning that shock and concussion of the brain caused her death. She was unconscious when she died today at 2 a. m.

Investigate Accident
Police and John Wiedmann, city prosecutor were interviewing witnesses of the accident this afternoon. Schorr drove to police station Monday after the accident and gave the information regarding the accident. He was not held by police.

The little girl was on errands for her mother when she stepped from behind two parked cars and in front of Schorr's car.

She had left the office of the C. D. & M. Electric Co., and was crossing to the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. offices when the accident occurred.

Resides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lates, of 290 East Center street, the child leaves a baby brother, Robert, 3, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Green of 525 Ulino avenue. She was born in Marion on May 14, 1923.

Mr. Lates was not at home at the time of the accident. He is employed in the offices of the Erie Railroad Co. at Meadville, Pa., and was at work. He came home yesterday afternoon.

Funeral arrangements have not been made. The body will remain at the M. H. Gunter funeral home on West Center street until Thursday morning when it will be taken to the home of her grandparents on Blaine avenue.

TRUSTEES FOR PROPOSED LAW

Township Officials of Marion County Back Bill To Boost License Cost.

WOULD STOP TAX DODGING

Albert Fetter Named President of Group in Annual Meeting.

Twelve of the 15 townships in Marion county last night went on record as favoring the proposed state law to take automobiles from the personal property tax list and to raise the automobile license fees. Their action followed a discussion of proposed legislation made by County Surveyor Cecil H. Leavens, who was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Marion County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks last night in the common plans room at the court house.

The proposed law in regard to automobiles would prevent many motorists from avoiding taxation as they have in the past, and the increased license fees would more than offset the reduction in tax receipts occasioned by dropping automobiles from the tax duplicate, Leavens explained.

The association also opposed any change in the distribution of the state gasoline tax which would reduce the townships' present revenue from that source.

Albert Fetter, Richland township trustee, was elected president of the county association to succeed Walter Williams. Claridon township trustee, William Haas, Richland township clerk, was reelected secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

moved the seat nearer the image
as Haswell had observed it had been placed.

After Dr. Netherton, the next witness, had related his examina tion of the body at Merrow Craig and had given the necessary de tails, the coroner told him he would accept his account as expert testi mony. "But I must ask you to regard yourself as an ordinary wit ness, on the scene of the tragedy before it happened and under oath to tell all he knows."

Bill made no reply, but squared his shoulders as the coroner con tinued. "You called at the house at 9 o'clock on the evening in ques tion. Tell us just what happened."

Dr. Netherton said that he had called to see the cook, who was ill,
and then, after he and Marjorie Blake had seen Miss Querling in the garden, he had gone home.

"Did you discuss anything with Miss Querling beside the cook's condition?"

"No," Bill was abrupt.
"You told the police of a rather notable remark she made."

Denying it was notable, Dr.
Netherton refused to say what the spinster had said. "It cannot help and might give rise to erroneous impressions."

"I must be the judge of that,"
the coroner paused. "I must insist on an answer. So far as we know, these were Miss Querling's last words."

The tense silence in court evi denced that Bill had been unwise
in remaining silent and thereby fo cusing extra attention on his re sponse in the garden. Every eye was on him, and Jimmie was con scious that Audrey Winford, be side him, was holding her breath, waiting for his words. At last they came.

"Miss Querling said that when her niece married she would have none of her money."

There was a little movement in the court. Apparently the villagers were surprised. The coroner put question after question, but Bill insisted that he had not regarded the matter seriously and would give no further information. He in sisted that Miss Querling had no reason to think that he and Miss Blake desired to marry.

"Think again," Burbeck persisted.
"Haven't you been paying marked attention to her?"

"I have not," Bill's curt reply
was followed by a murmur in court.
Audrey's clenched fists told Jim mie of her concern.

The questioning continued and Bill said that after he and Mar jorie left Miss Querling they had gone to the edge of the garden and had remained in conversation

for perhaps 15 minutes.
"The jury would be wrong to assume there was anything of the nature of love-making."

"They would. Very wrong."
"Can you tell them what you were discussing?"

"Purely personal matters of no concern to any one but ourselves," Burbeck nodded. "If a witness tells us that on Sunday week you escorted Miss Blake home from church, would that be wrong?"

"Yes, it would," retorted Bill angrily. "If you drew the con clusions you insinuate," Bill ad mitted he had met Miss Blake by chance on Sunday and had walked with her then and on the Monday and Wednesday evenings follow ing. He agreed that having re gard for Miss Querling's peculiar ities, her knowledge of these meet ings might account for such a re mark.

"Now Dr. Netherton, when you and Miss Blake parted did you again approach that Dutch gar den?"

"I did not."
"Did you—I must put this to you did you by means of that ston figure or otherwise, injure or kill Miss Querling?"

"I did not."
"That is all Miss Marjorie Blake?"

There was a buzz of conversation as the elder of the two sisters took the doctor's place in the witness box. Audrey was visibly angry at the coroner.

Dr. Burbeck spared Marjorie as far as he could, leading her gently to tell how she had discovered her niece's body. She confirmed Dr.
Netherton's statement concerning Miss Querling's remark about her loss of fortune through marriage and admitted that she had no money except what her aunt allowed her.

"Hanging your aunt any reason for thinking you and Dr. Netherton wished to marry?"

"She seemed to think it, but she was wrong," Marjorie said, repen tantly. Her denial when the coroner reminded her of her meetings with the physician.

She told the coroner that after Dr. Netherton had left her in the garden, she had stood alone for about 10 minutes and then had re turned to the garden, seeing no one there.

"Now, Miss Blake, this is painful
when you approached your aunt did you expect to find her dead?"

"No," No," the girl shuddered.
Thinking her, the coroner ad
joined the inquest for lunch.
Jimmie moved over to Richmond, asking him if he had any new theories.

"May not need them," he an swered. "You'll get a surprise this afternoon. I have to see the cor oner." With that he moved away.
To Be Continued.

It is found that the members of a fashionable church contribute quite as much to good works as those of any other kind.

I got out to the barn and fed and milked the dumber brutes so fast they must of thought I was going to a fire or something. The bunch was all in the barn except the girls, and they were in the house, and when I had fed my cows and they had had some pan cakes we all went to school, and Feeble got her air rifle out of the corner of the fence where she had hid it, and we snuck along slow and careful when we got near the school, and Mush was out in the yard talking to his wife when we peeked in the yard from the cor ner. His back was toward us and his pants were not as tight as they would of been if he had been stooping over, but they were tight, and we all waited whilst Feeble cocked her rifle and took aim,
and then she pulled the trigger and Mush jumped and Feeble hol lered at the same time. She had forgot to pull the trigger-guard back before she fired and when she pulled the trigger the guard came back and almost busted all of her fingers on that hand. She was quick enough to drop her rifle over the fence into the next yard, and then Mush and his wife came over to see what the matter was,
and Mush was rubbing himself and wanting to know what was the matter, and Feeble said she had hurt her hand, and we all went in school with her, and when we got upstairs she had the teacher look at her fingers, and the teacher fixed them up with some first aid stuff, and then she said, "A per son ought to be careful with those air rifles."

She certainly knocked our eye out. She had been looking out of the window. I am glad she is such a good sport and that Mush didn't catch on. Her rifle was where she dropped it when school let out,
and her fingers are black and blue across the backs of them. I hate it for a girl to get hurt.

"Heart of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

A Mystery Attack on the Farm house at Dawn.

NOT one of us on the veranda voiced a question as my father returned from his telephone collo quy with Mr. Corwin at the bank.
But each one of our chairs hitched forward as with one motion, and we leaned forward with eager, unabashed curiosity when he began to speak.

"Those men are at the bottom of Peconic Bay," he said, and moved toward me at my involuntary gasp of horror.

"You should not be here, Mar garet, he said reprovingly, and in his voice there was the care, for me, as constant, so detailed as to be almost overpowering, which he has insisted upon giving me ever since the birth of my baby daugh ter.

"Never mind me, Father," I said almost impatiently. "I am perfect ly all right. Please, tell us what happened. I am not a child, that I cannot hear terrible things when it is necessary for me to listen to them."

The Tragedy Questioned
"That is just the point," my father said obstinately. "I am not convinced that it is necessary for either you or Lillian to listen to these details. But since you insist,
I will get on."

He stopped, as if marshaling his facts, and then went on slowly.
"Because no one dreamed that the escaping men would go over to North Haven where there was no possible way for them to get back,
the men in the blue sedan got so much of a start over to the island that when the cars swung over the bridge in pursuit of them, they were nowhere in sight. The pur suer lost some time examining the corners of each branch road to see whether they had turned off, but the first seemed to lead straight to the ferry. When the cars from the Harbor came near to the ferry they suddenly heard two or three loud shrieks of terror then a splash and silence. When they reached the ferry, there was the trail of the car which had plunged into the water, and two hats float ing on the surface of the water, telling the story of the fate of their owner."

Harry's Theory
"And I infer," Harry Underwood broke the shocked silence with which we had received the grim some news. "That the good men from the Harbor, after saying a silent prayer or two, returned home to get the bodies."

"What on your mind?" Dicky demanded, and my father said suddenly.
"I should like to hear your theory, Underwood. I can see you have one."

"It all fits in too nicely," the big man said slowly. "Distribution does not come so quickly and in such wholesale fashion in real life.
Besides, those chaps were over in North Haven for a long time this afternoon. It's fifty-fifty at least that they knew of that ferry slip,
and the danger there would be to a car approaching it at full speed.
I'm not saying they're not in the bottom of the bay, mind you, I'm only saying with all deference to the humane feelings of the ladies present that I wish I was sure they were there, as surely as I can see Marjorie and the door knob."

"I am inclined to agree with you, Underwood," my father said, and my pulses increased their tempo as I began to realize the import of what they were saying. "How do you think they will manage get ting away from there?"

"Perhaps a boat, perhaps an other car," Mr. Underwood said.
"Both, if they use a boat, for they'll have a car caked some where within rowing distance if they have a rowboat, farther out if they've been able to get hold of a motor boat."

"If they have a pull-putt, they'll be able to land on the other side of Peconic," Dicky continued.
"Yes, that's true," Mr. Under wood said, but he was so convin ced in his tones, and then for an interval that seemed eternally we sat without speaking. I cannot answer for the rest of the group,
but my own nerves were so tensed
that when the silence of the min utes just preceding the dawn then which there is no period so dark, so sinister—was broken by the hum of a powerful motor car com ing down the road from the direc tion of the turnpike. I almost dis graced myself by shrieking aloud

but managed to keep silent.
My father's voice was distinctly audible, however.

A Strange Missile
"Snap out that light," he com manded. "Margaret and Lillian, go into the house and keep out of everything."

Dicky already had sprung to the hall switch and turned it, so that the veranda was wrapped in total darkness. Lillian and I walked into the house without protest, but stole back to the windows where we could see what was going on.
Curiously enough, it did not oc cur to any of us to question where was the car coming so swiftly down our road. As its headlights came into view we saw that the rear door toward us was wide open,
and that a man stood on the run ning board, securely held by some one behind him. He held something in his hand, and before the car reached the gate it slowed down ever so slightly while a sudden blaze of light, evidently proceeding from some super flashlight, spec ially made, illuminated the whole lawn. And then the man had flung toward the house, a sinister dark object with a small, glowing red spot something protruding from it, and the car had accelerated its pace and disappeared down the road.

Montgomery Farm Group Votes To Donate Sum to Drouth Relief.

Montgomery Grange voted at a meeting last night in the grange hall to send money to the Marion County Red Cross chapter to aid in the raising of funds for drouth relief. The money will be given to the Red Cross soon.

Monday night Mt. Olive grange members will be the guests of Montgomery grange and will present a play, "The Road Back." At the close of a business meeting last night a short program of community singing and contests was enjoyed. Readings were given by Mrs. Claude Cates and Mrs. Roy W. Peters. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Kennedy gave a vocal duet and Mrs. Rosa Woodbury gave a piano solo. After a short story told by William T. Tom, the grange adjourned with a song. The next meeting will be held Feb. 24. Earl Miller, worthy master and Clay Wilson, worthy vice, of the program, will have charge of the program. H. E. Eagle, Eula Mae Rhoads and Audrey Kennedy were appointed a committee to assist in securing better attendance and more interest in juvenile grange work, at a meeting of the juvenile grange. Mrs. Dale Rhoads, assistant matron, presided at the juvenile meeting.

STORY OF PRODIGAL FATHER OPENS AT OHIO FOR 3 DAYS

"Man to Man" by Ben Ames Williams Smacks
of Old Dixie.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

"Now, as man to man, son, what do you think about it?" Many's the conversation begun this way when a father is in a heart-to-heart talk with his son. "Man to Man" opening at the Ohio Thursday to run through Saturday, is the story of a man and his son and the son's sweetheart.

Ben Ames Williams wrote the original story, "Barber John's Boy." Instead of the prodigal son, this story deals with the prodigal father, played by Grant Mitchell. Phillips Holmes, who played a big part in Helen Twelvetrees' "Her Man," is cast as the son and George Marion, grand character man, is the bank president whose faith has so much to do with the bonds of respect between the father and his boy. Lucille Powers is the only actress named listed in the cast.

The atmosphere of old Dixie pervades the background of the picture. Grant Mitchell, stage star who makes his talking picture debut, walks everywhere possible. Every morning during the making of the picture, he walked to the studio and return, a round trip distance of some eight miles. Fans will remember George Marion for his wonderful work as the father of "Anna Christie."

JOAN CRAWFORD IN "PAID" AT PALACE

Joan Crawford can go her own way in pictures now. "Paid" proves that she is a talented dramatic actress as well as the epitome of the modern whoopee dancing society bud. "Paid" continues at the Palace tonight and Thursday and almost comes under the "must see" list.

Joan and a strong supporting cast have made "Within the Law" as fine a dramatic picture as we've seen in a long time. Mary Turner, sent to prison for three years for a crime she didn't commit, vows to make the man who sent her there pay for every minute of the three years. And how she does. "Within the Law" is a wonderful interesting and thrilling story.

Kent Douglas, a newcomer to the screen from the stage, is a convincing son of a rich man and Purnell B. Pratt is the rich man who doesn't care for the rights of other people but considers his son and himself as something a little apart from the rest of the world.

Marie Prevost is a charming little crook who makes even John Miljan, "Inspector Burke," fall for her line. Real barrels go to Robert Armstrong who plays the part of "Joe Garson," member of Joan's gang who loves her so much that he gives up his life for her happiness.

Charity ball at Star Thursday-Adv

By all means see "Paid." It's the kind of a picture that it makes you furious when someone several rows ahead has to rise to let a late-comer in.

Mrs. Ottilie Tracht Spent 66 Years of Life in Gallon.

GALLON, Feb. 11—Mrs. Ottilie Tracht, 83, passed away Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry F. Kile.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Kile home with Rev. H. C. Wolber of Cardington officiating. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. Tracht the last of a family of eight children, was born Nov. 6 1847 in Dodenau, Germany. The family came to this country in 1862 and located at Upper Sandusky but Mrs. Tracht had been resident of this city for many years.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Harry F. Kile and Mrs. R. E. Ackerman, both of this city. She is survived also by a son, Erwin R. Tracht, of Canton, together with one grandson, E. G. Ackerman and one granddaughter, Raymond Burrill Ackerman, of Coldwater, Ohio.

PRESBIES CINCH TIE FOR TOP IN S. S. LOOP

DEFEAT IRISH QUINT 31 TO 10 FOR NINTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

Epworth Assumes Temporary Possession of Second Place; Lee St. Wins.

By BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star
TRAMPLING the lowly St. Mary's quintet for the ninth consecutive victory of the year the First Presbyterian basketball team assured for itself nothing less than a deadlock for the Y-Church league championship last night. The Presbies handed the Irish five a 31 to 10 beating. One more victory will give last night's winners undisputed possession of the pennant.

Epworth M. E. provided the only other results last night which means anything in particular as far as team standings are concerned. The Methodists came to life after a slow start and thinned the Calvary outfit by a 33 to 18 count. The victory elevates the winners to sole ownership of second place in the league and drops Waldo and Central Christian No. 1 into a tie for third.

Lee Street Presbyterians turned in somewhat of an upset as it defeated the Central Christian No. 2 team 17 to 14.

Second Team Starts
The league leading Presbyterians started the game against the Irish with nearly a whole team of second stringers on the floor. As a result St. Mary played on even terms with the eventual winners throughout the first period. In the second quarter the Presbies widened the gap and held a 13 to 6 advantage at half time.

With the first team lineup on the floor in the second half the league's pace-setters quickly turned the game into a rout although the parochial team offered some stubborn resistance. St. Mary resorted to a barrage of long range shots in an effort to gain some points late in the game but all of them were wild.

"Zig" Versus "Shell"
The Methodists and Calvary teams put on what might have passed for a vaudeville act with the two Snyder brothers "Zig" and "Shell", playing the leading roles. The two were pitted against each other at the center positions.

These two elongated specimens of humanity put on a battle royal for scoring honors. "Shell" with his six feet four and three quarters inches taking a two point advantage over "Zig" with his six feet two and three quarters inches. "Shell" also turned a better than usual game, his guarding ruining a lot of potential Epworth baskets. Calvary managed to hold the Methodists in check for the first period of the game but weakened.

Heidelberg Five, Shovel Y-Indus to Play Tonight

THE Shovel Y-Indus basketball club will face another tough assignment tonight when it clashes with the Heidelberg College reserves on the Steam Shovel court at 8:15 p. m. The Marion club will be gunning for its nineteenth victory of the season and will also be fighting to break up a jinx which has haunted them in two former clashes with representatives of the Tiffin college. The Student Princes have been victorious over the Marion club by close scores on both former occasions.

One of the top notch performers of the Heidelberg team will be no stranger to the Shovel court, having played here recently with the Tiffin Y. M. C. A. against the Marion club. The Tiffin club lost that particular game but Blum evened the count on the Tiffin court when he led his club to victory over the local team. Blum is expected to play at center tonight for Heidelberg, the same post he occupied against the Y-Indus on the other two occasions.

Inasmuch as the Student Princes have been compiling a good record they are expected to give the Marion quintet a tough battle.

The quintet game will be preceded by a preliminary at 7:30 p. m. against two unnamed teams.

The Y-Indus encounter will start at 8:15.

ILLINI SPRINGS BIG UPSET IN BIG 10 RACE

Drops Rehabilitated Purdue Team 26-22 on Champaign Court for First Win.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 11—Illinois usually provides each Big Ten basketball championship race with a stunning upset and the current struggle finds no exception.

On their home floor last night, the Illini turned in the noisiest up of the year by dropping Purdue's rehabilitated team, 26 to 22. It was the first victory in six conference games for Illinois and the defeat destroyed the last Purdue hope of retaining the title won last year with 10 straight victories. Furthermore, it made Northwestern's record of six successive triumphs look bigger and better.

Action in the championship race will open again Saturday night with four games—Minnesota at Wisconsin, Northwestern at Chicago, Illinois at Iowa and Indiana at Purdue.

ST. MARY TO PLAY

Parochial Five Meets Tiffin Calvert on Star Floor Tonight.

The St. Mary parochial basketball team will attempt to get back into the winning column tonight on The Star court as it engages the Tiffin Calvert quintet in the twelfth game of the current season. Tiffin is expected to bring a fairly strong team here to meet the Marion Irish.

Rev. Father Kiege, coach of the Marion five, will have his full first team available for play tonight. Sheebs is expected to start at center with Art O'Keefe at one guard. The starting lineup for the other posts are somewhat in doubt. There will be a preliminary game at 7:30 p. m.

LOSER'S EARLY LEAD RAPIDLY OVERCOME

Furness-Coached Five Plays Spirited Game; Home Girls Are Victors, 8-6.

BY BOB BYRD

THE boys' cage championship of the East section of Marion county today lays among Kirkpatrick, Waldo and Martel following the defeat of Waldo cagers by Kirkpatrick basketballers on the latter's floor last night. Kirkpatrick came out on top of the match, postponed from Jan. 23, by a 22 to 20 score.

Waldo basket were more fortunate, defeating the home team 8 to 6. The victory deadlocks Kirkpatrick, Caledonia and Waldo in second place in the East section.

With the score standing 20-all at the opening of the fourth period after a nine-point rally by Waldo, Hill, Kirkpatrick forward, dropped a two-pointer that meant victory for his quintet. From the time the ball dropped through the net, Kirkpatrick played a determined game, shutting Waldo off from further scoring.

Waldo started the game by taking an easy lead over Kirkpatrick. The score was partially evened up by the time the first period ended with the score 8 to 11 favoring Waldo. In the second period, Kirkpatrick rolled up 12 points and held Waldo scoreless. Waldo retaliated in the third by holding Kirkpatrick scoreless while amassing nine points on its own part to tie the score. Hill's shot clinched the game for Kirkpatrick early in the fourth.

Snappy passwork and clever ball handling failed to enable the Waldo lads to hit the loop a sufficient number of times to win. Although not so well organized, Kirkpatrick exerts won largely because of an unbeatable spirit.

R. Hart, center, Monette, forward, and Hill, forward, all with Kirkpatrick, did all the scoring for the winners Hill and Monette led Kirkpatrick scorers with eight points each.

Carl, Waldo forward, was high scorer of the evening with 11 points. His excellent shots threatened to spell disaster for Kirkpatrick in the third period.

NEW RECORD LIKELY IN OHIO BASKETBALL

Wike of Ashland Leading Point-Getters with 11 1/2 a Game Average.

By International News Service
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11—The battle for individual scoring honors in Ohio college basketball circles this season promises to be one of the best in history and there's a possibility that a new record may be established.

At present, Harry "Rube" Wike, Ashland's great center, is providing probably the toughest opposition to high-scoring aspirants. Wike has scored 125 points in 11 games thus far this season against some of the best cage outfits in the state.

In the eight games against the top-flight teams in the Ohio conference, Wike has scored 92 points for an average of 11 1/2 points per game. This average was compiled in games against Western Reserve, Wooster, Heidelberg, Ohio Northern, Muskingum, Case and Kenyon.

Company B Chalks Up Double Cage Victory

The Company B basketball team last night hung up a double victory over teams representing Green Camp and Agosta in games played on the Armory court. The Soldiers beat Green Camp 31 to 28 and defeated Agosta 46 to 36.

Lantz, forward for the Soldiers, was high scorer for both games with 16 points.

Company B will play Company E of Kenton on the out-of-town floor Thursday night.

HARDING HAS CHANCE TO STARTLE LEAGUE BY BEATING ASHLAND

Local Victory Friday Might Give Gallon Possible Chance at N. C. O. Flag.

Harding High school's basketball team will have an opportunity to throw a bombshell into the machinery of the North Central Ohio League basketball race Friday night if it is able to defeat Ashland. The Star auditorium in quest of its seventh consecutive victory.

If the Ashlanders are successful in their effort to hand Harding another defeat, the Hilltoppers may open discussion as to where they are going to call the 1931 basketball pennant. However, should the Bohyer-coached crew do the unexpected and register a victory over the league-leaders there is still a possibility that Gallon can put on a fast finish and win the flag.

Ashland has won six and lost none while Gallon has dropped two of six played. The Orange-men will be favored to beat the Mansfield quintet Friday night and this, coupled with a Harding victory over Ashland would leave the McClintock team only a single game behind the leaders with three games remaining on the schedule.

Coach Russ Murphy will escort his rough and tumble Tiger outfit onto the Gallon court Friday night and attempt to upset the dope by beating the Hoekstra & Co. outfit. He may do it but it wouldn't be a

VETERAN FLINGERS TO TRY COMEBACKS

John Picus Quinn Signs with Brooklyn; Howard Ehmke Looking for Job.

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11—Howard Ehmke, veteran righthander of the Athletics until last year, may expect some club to grab him up after being released during the winter by Connie Mack. And he came here to get in condition for the training grind, just as he has for several years.

"Yeah, I'll give 'em a fling for another year," the old master said, and "I believe I've got enough stuff left to show 'em that I'm not through."

The hero of the opening world series game between the Athletics and Chicago in 1929, declared today his arm felt "pretty good" and that he would go to Athletics' Florida camp under his own auspices.

"I'm heading for Fort Myers about March 1," he said. "Down there I'll try out the arm. If it is anything like what I expect, I'll be tossing them up for Connie Mack. I believe the complete rest I gave my arm has fixed it."

Ehmke had 17 years of professional baseball and at the top of his career was a master pitcher.

By The Associated Press.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 11—Two days ago "Old Jack" Picus Quinn, who dates his professional baseball pitching back to 1903, asserted he was not old—even in a game where much depends on such things as stamina.

Chisox Trade Walsh Jr. for Outfield Prospect

By The Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 11—Big Ed Walsh's boy, Ed Jr., is going to the minors.
The son of the distinguished White Sox pitching veteran and a pitcher himself, Ed Jr. was sent to Lou-ville club of the American Association in a deal completed yesterday whereby Mel Simmons, a star outfielder, comes to the White Sox. Clarence Hoffman, White Sox outfielder, and a bundle of cash,
also went to Louisville in the deal.
Young Walsh made a good start with the White Sox in 1928, but failed to keep going fast enough to suit Manager Donie Bush.
Simmons is regarded as one of the best prospects ever to come up from the minors.

C. of C. To Oppose Permanent Galion-Bucyrus Bus Route

TROLLEY LINE BOARD'S GOAL

Freight Service Needed Between Two Cities; To Protest Franchise.

Special to The Star.

BUCYRUS, Feb. 11—Steps to prevent a long-time franchise being granted today to the bus company operating between Galion and Bucyrus, were taken by the Bucyrus Chamber of Commerce. Tuesday night at a called directors' meeting, a resolution also was passed negating their cooperation to any effort of William Moloney of Marion, operator of the C., D. & M. railway, or any other concern interested in taking over the lines of the Cleveland Southwestern which recently went into receivership.

The trolley line between Cleveland and Bucyrus is vitally important here. It is the only direct freight service between the two cities. A protest to the franchise sought by the bus company will be submitted by President of the Chamber J. D. Sears today. A temporary franchise is now held by the bus line.

Two factory projects were discussed by the directors, one of which, if the Chamber is successful in securing it, will employ several hundred men.

Preliminary plans for the quarterly membership meeting to be held within the next month were discussed. The subject of a chamber platform will be taken up at that time.

The question of the revival of the Community Chest was discussed again. The various organizations benefited by the chest will give their ideas in the matter. The Chest was abandoned two years ago because of the lack of public interest.

A successor to John Cox, secretary who resigned two months ago, was discussed and suggestion made that a local man be given the position. The suggestion, however, met with disfavor.

House: Considers miscellaneous bills approved by territorial committees; ways and means committee plans to decide upon definite veterans relief legislation; military affairs committee works on $2-850,000 soldiers' homes program; census committee continues consideration of reapportionment bills.

TUESDAY
Senate: Continued debate on interior appropriation bill and relief plan; former Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett continued testimony before committee investigating postal losses; testimony presented to food price committee that price of bread has not declined with prices of wheat and flour.

House: Administration's $30,000,000 battleship modernization program attacked by Representative French. Communists created disturbance in public gallery after efforts to invade floor of chamber failed.

BOOST TICKET SALES FOR HOSPITAL PARTY

Benefit Bridge To Be Held at City Institution Thursday Night.

Nurses of City hospital and city officials today were making a last minute drive to boost ticket sales for the benefit bridge party in the hospital dining room Thursday night. The party is sponsored by nurses of the institution to raise money for needed hospital equipment.

The sales to date have been very satisfactory, Miss Mary B. Pleasant, superintendent, said today. The party begins Thursday at 8:15 p. m.

Handicapped by the lack of equipment, the nurses decided to

MARION, GALION TEAMS TO MEET

Debaters of Two Schools To Clash on Chain Store Question Tuesday Night

Special to The Star.

GALION, Feb. 11—Tuesday night, Feb. 17, will mark the opening of the local debate season when the affirmative team of the Galion High school meets the Marion negative team in this city. On the same evening the Galion negative team members will go to Bucyrus where they will debate with the Bucyrus affirmative team.

The Galion affirmative team includes Robert Root, Milley Healin, Miss Anna Mae Campbell, captain, and Miss Patricia Cahill, alternate. Ann Hodge is the first speaker on the negative team. Helen Britton, the second and Virginia Henry, captain. Miss Martha Goshorn is the alternate. Miss Louise John is the debate coach.

The subject for debate concerns the chain store system. Prof. Bernard Griffiths of the Ohio Wesleyan university will be the judge for the debate here Tuesday.

A musical program has been arranged by Hartley D. Snyder and the general public is invited to be present.

RAYL CLASS HEARS PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

Tableaux Scenes, Recitations and Songs Feature Trinity Baptist Church Meet.

A darkened doorway and a lantern to throw into relief a series of tableaux, added to the patriotic program given last night when the Rayl class of Trinity Baptist church met in the church parlors. Mrs. A. L. Covault, of Marion Craven's group, chairman of the program, read a story as each figure or group was presented. The meeting opened with singing the "Star Spangled Banner," led by Marion Craven. The American flag was shown in relief as the song was sung.

The following persons and groups appeared in the doorway, in costume, as Mrs. Covault interpreted the program:

Warns Children Against Trespassing on Lawns

Parents today were asked by Judge Oscar Gaet of juvenile court to assist in keeping children from cutting across lawns, following several complaints made to him that paths were being made across lawns in various parts of the city. "If parents will help to stop this annoyance, it will save the juvenile court from having to take action against the offenders," Judge Gaet said.

200 EXPECTED AT FATHER-SON DINNER

Radio Program, Talks and Music To Feature Epworth M. E. Church Meet.

The Lincoln day father and son banquet Thursday night at Epworth M. E. church will be featured by a half-hour radio program beginning at 7 p. m., from WHAS in Louisville. Governor Sampson of Kentucky will speak and Rev. H. M. Frakes, director of religious and educational work of the Methodist church in the mountains of Kentucky, will give a short talk. A quartet of young people from Henderson settlement school will sing.

The banquet at which Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor, will preside as toastmaster, will be served at 8:20 p. m. in the dining room of the church. At the close of the broadcast, the men's chorus under the direction of Knox Dunlop, will sing. Mrs. C. E. Turley will sing a group of three Kentucky mountain ballads, "Tidy Johnson," "Going 'Round the Mountain" and "East Kentucky Hills." Mrs. Homer Waddell will speak on her personal observations of Henderson settlement and Roy H. Waddell will speak on "Our Outlook at Kingdom Come Settlement."

Two hundred men and boys of Epworth are expected to attend the banquet.

MRS. PENHORWOOD CLAIMED BY DEATH

Parents today were asked by Judge Oscar Gaet of juvenile court to assist in keeping children from cutting across lawns, following several complaints made to him that paths were being made across lawns in various parts of the city. "If parents will help to stop this annoyance, it will save the juvenile court from having to take action against the offenders," Judge Gaet said.

CHAPTER HERE SENDS $2,912 AS DROUTH AID

Transfer from Old Relief Funds Swells Donation of Red Cross.

The Marion Red Cross chapter today sent a check for $2,912.89 to the national organization to be applied in the $10,000,000 drouth relief program.

A check for this amount was made possible last night when the executive committee of the chapter voted to turn over $1,378.79 held as a surplus from previous catastrophe relief drives to the drouth relief program.

Total contributions of $1,338.90 taken since the drive was started here several weeks ago is also included in the check.

With nearly $3,000 of the $5,000 quota of the county subscribed, Red Cross officials today were pressing forward with renewed vigor to raise another $2,000 and put the local chapter over the goal.

The $1,378.79 reserve has been held in local banks for just such an emergency as this, chapter officials said. The amount represents oversubscription in drives for money to relieve the suffering in the Mississippi flood of 1927 and the Porto Rico hurricane in 1928.

VETERANS INVITED TO WILEY SERVICES

Corporal Harris Circle G. A. R. Holds Lincoln Day Meeting.

A vote to extend an invitation to the veterans of Cooper Post No. 117, G. A. R. to attend memorial services for Commander Charles Wiley, Tuesday, Feb. 24, at the American Legion Dugout at which Cooper Women's Relief Corps and Corporal Harris Circle No. 85, G. A. Mrs. Kate Parish, president of the circle, urged the members to attend the services, at which the charter will be draped for Com-

Ada Farmer Reports Corn Sprouting in Barn Yard

KENTON, Feb. 11—Sprouts of field corn, 10 to 15 inches in length high enough to plow, were shown yesterday by Robert Elwood of two miles east of Ada. He found the corn sprouting in his open barn yard, where he had been feeding stock.

"This reminds me of a winter back in 1887 or 1888 when butterflies were seen on New Year's day. Wheat grew to be six inches high during January and February of that year, but was killed by a hard freeze late in March."

RULING ASKED BY PROSECUTOR

Action of Judge in Freeing Arthur Hand Questioned by Sears.

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11—Prosecuting Attorney J. D. Sears of Crawford county, today filed application in state supreme court for permission to file a bill of exception to the ruling of Common Pleas Judge J. Walter Wright freeing Arthur J. Hand of Toledo on a charge of robbing the Commercial Savings bank of Galion on June 28, 1927.

Judge Wright acquitted Hand without trial on grounds that he had been held without bond for more than three terms of court, not including the term he was admitted to bond.

Should the supreme court reverse Judge Wright's decision, Hand could be brought to trial under the indictment.

The action of Prosecutor Sears is to determine the law on the question involved. Hand's brother, Wilbur Hand, was convicted for the same robbery and is now serving a 12 to 25 year sentence in the Ohio penitentiary.

CHAPTER NEAR RELIEF GOAL

Four Dollars Needed To Complete Quota of Kenton Red Cross Drive.

Special to The Star.

KENTON, Feb. 11—The Kenton chapter of the American Red Cross has neared the $400 mark in its drive for drouth relief funds.

Aside from the slowly swelling fund, quantities of foodstuffs and clothing have been contributed to the local campaign by individuals.

The exact total of the contributions locally was placed at $396.01 today by Mary B. Mathews, executive secretary of the Kenton chapter. Additional donors to the relief fund included: Miss Auto Mitchell, Lynn township, $10; The Delphian Chapter, $3.51; Dr. W. C. Emery, $5; Gordon Rosenthal, $5; cash, $10; Miss Katherine Enright, $3; cash and anonymous, $1.

The Ada Red Cross chapter has sent in $102 for national drouth relief to date. Neither of the chapters is conducting an active drive, all contributions being voluntary.

Yesterday, hundreds of Marion people proclaimed it the season's finest picture.

It is the revenge Mary Turner planned! To marry the son of the man who ruined her life! A stirring drama of

INSTITUTE SPEAKERS

F. O. Van Sickle, Miss Norma L. Opens Sessions.

LEESVILLE, Feb. 11—O. Van Sickle of Cardington and Miss Norma L. Opens of Bellevue are the principal speakers at the Crestline Leesville farmers institute which opened this morning at the Leesville school. Rev. Botkin pronounced the invocation opening the session followed by a reading by Eleanor Walters. Besides the addresses by Mr. Van Sickle and Miss Opens, Agent J. E. Bradfute addressed the group and Miss Fike and M. Channel contributed a piano solo. The institute will close Thursday afternoon with a Grange session.

FARMER HURTS EYE

KENTON, Feb. 11—John Damm, farmer of Hepburn, is recovering from a cut received on the eye when a sharp object struck a member while he was plowing a field on his farm. The sharp object was dislodged from a weed.

GROUPS TO SING IN ELSTEDDFOD

Marion Lecture-Recital and Canto Clubs To Participate in Contest.

Marion music circles will be represented at the Elsteddfod at Lima, Monday, Feb. 23, by the Lecture-Recital and Canto clubs. The two groups will compete with similar organizations from central Ohio. T. R. Evans is directing the mixed chorus of 75 voices from the two clubs. Mrs. Edith Kautzer-Unger of Bucyrus is directing the women's chorus and Ernst C. Carl is directing the male chorus. The Elsteddfod will be held in Memorial hall at Lima, and is expected to draw more than 1,000 persons. The Marion Concert association is making an effort to bring the 1932 Elsteddfod to Marion on Feb. 22. Each group competing will sing the same selection. The Lecture-Recital club of 50 women's voices will sing "Rain," and the Canto club chorus of 40 male voices will sing "Feasting I Watch." "The Lost Chord" is the selection to be sung by the mixed chorus from the two clubs.

D. C. Rueger of the Canto club will sing a tenor solo, "I Arise from Dreams of Thee," and Mrs. Earl M. Hale of the Lecture-Recital club will sing an alto solo, "A Spirit Flower." Mrs. Unger will sing a soprano solo, "One Fine Day." Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Karl W. Schell will sing a soprano and alto duet, "Where My Caravan Has Rested," and a women's trio, Mrs. Unger, Mrs. Schell and Mrs. Hale will sing "The Swan."

Miss Dorothy Briggs will accompany the mixed and male choruses and Miss Melvina Sumners will accompany the Lecture-Recital club numbers. The numbers which the Canto club and Lecture-Recital clubs will sing at the Elsteddfod will also be sung at First Presbyterian church on Thursday night, Feb. 26, when Thomas Phillip Johnson, organist at Westminster Presbyterian church at Dayton comes here for a program of organ music.

YOUTH'S GOLDEN ERA IS HERE

PLACES OF EMINENCE REACHED BY YOUNG MEN THESE DAYS

International News Service
NEW YORK—Foremost among the upstarts of the last decade has been the passing of the infamy of the inefficiency of William Pitt, famous English statesman, as "the atrocious crime of being a young man."

The recent nomination by President Hoover of Lieut. Col. Thomas E. Rilea, of Portland, Ore., for a brigadier generalship illustrates, better than anything else, the trend of the times. Rilea was nominated on the recommendation of the war department. He is only 33 and he will be the youngest general in the whole history of the United States.

In the last few years the tendency of headless youth to invade the realm of the mighty has become more and more pronounced. Raymond J. Koger of Bridgeport, Conn. cut short his high school course at Great Barrington Mass., to go to work. Starting as an office boy, in nine years he had risen to manager and assistant treasurer of the investment company for which he worked. In his club he had amassed a fortune of $200,000 and a craving for better education; so he retired and entered Harvard to study for a B. A. degree.

MORE meteoric still was the rise of Seymour B. Sears, of Grantwood, N. J. When Sears was graduated from Clifton, N. J. High school at the age of 19, he became a page in the New York stock exchange. In a few months he had been promoted to bond clerk. But he regarded a clerkship as just a rut and left it a year later to enter the brokerage offices of Miller, Hewitt & Dodge as a telephone boy. From then on his rise was rapid. Breathlessly so; for in one year he had fought his way to a junior partnership in the firm and a membership seat on the stock exchange. Surely this achievement—from telephone boy to member of the stock exchange in a year—makes Horatio Alger's go-getting heroes like so many cripples.

The whirlwind career of Ivan Parker, is another illustration of the adage "Youth Will Be Served." Parker, an emancipated slave, came from a carrier of water and hay to leading American jockey for two years in succession. In one season he rode 173 winners which, turf experts said, was a remarkable feat. But in the following year he surpassed this fine achievement by riding no less than 208 victorious horses past the post. Parker retired at 19, having amassed a considerable fortune and a surplus of poundage.

STILL another young man who successfully bucked the line is Charles Richter. He came to the United States at the age of two, worked at odd jobs in the afternoon while attending grammar school and high school. On graduation he started his career as bank messenger boy and step by step won promotion after promotion until at 27 he was appointed assistant first vice president of the Public National Bank and Trust company.

For sheer brilliance the career of Robert Maynard Hutchins will take a lot of beating. At the age of 18, Hutchins was an ambulance driver on the Italian front and was decorated by the Italian government for conspicuous gallantry. In his twelfth year he was a penniless war veteran. At 28 he was dean of law at Yale university, had been presented with the key of the city, the Phi Beta Kappa and was winner of the DeForest prize for oratory. His crowning achievement came in his thirtieth year when he was appointed president of the University of Chicago, a post of the highest honor in one of America's foremost seats of learning.

3 HELD IN ROBBERY OF LIMA SALESMAN

Hardin County Authorities Say Kenton Men Confess to Charges.

SPECIAL to the Star. KENTON, Feb. 11—Three Kenton youths have been taken into custody by Hardin county officials and are to face charges in connection with the robbery of Benjamin Blattner, Lima salesman, of $41 in money and merchandise here several weeks ago.

Donald Campbell, 21, is allegedly the leader, according to confessions made to county officials today. His two companions were Joe Bates, 22, who admitted driving a roadster to the hold-up scene, and Eliza Mabrey, 23, who aided Campbell in "sticking up" Blattner, officials say. Blattner, a younger member of the firm of Blattner & Sons of Lima, found himself covered with a gun when he entered his truck making a collection call in Kenton early on the morning of December 23, 1930. He was ordered to drive a mile south of Kenton.

Gallon Equity Company Holds Annual Banquet.

GALLON, Feb. 11—There were about 500 in attendance at the annual midwinter banquet of the stockholders of the Gallon Equity Exchange Co. which was held Tuesday noon at the First M. E. church.

Following the banquet Walter Zimmerman, president, spoke briefly and introduced Hugh Fuller of Delaware. Mr. Fuller, a humorist, entertained. H. Heidinger of Louisville was also a speaker as was Herman Eichhorn, manager of the company. Music was furnished by the News quartet and by the Eckstein orchestra of Leesville.

Commissioners Approve Plans for Ditch Repairs

County commissioners yesterday approved plans and specifications of County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens for improvement of the Holzerstott ditch in Claridon township and set Saturday, March 14, as the date for receiving bids.

Estimated cost of the improvement, following a revision of the plans, is $3,300. Original plans called for an expenditure of $8,000, but commissioners decided at this time to make only a temporary improvement.

Benefited property holders were allowed two years in which to pay their assessments.

Free Church Leader Asks Universal Peace Holiday

LONDON—Proposals have been put forward by Dr. Norwood, well-known Free church leader, for a universal peace holiday to be celebrated annually on Aug. 27, the date on which the Paris Pact was signed.

The pact renouncing war as an instrument of national policy was signed in Paris in 1928, by the plenipotentiaries of 15 nations, and later adhered to by 28 more nations.

County School Teachers To Meet Here Saturday

Association Session To Be Held at Central Junior High School; George M. Morris, Rural Supervisor, of Columbus, To Address Body

An address by George M. Morris, rural school supervisor of Columbus, and the discussion of problems peculiar to each grade in departmental sections will feature a meeting of the Marion County Teachers' association at the Central Junior high building Saturday.

The meeting will get under way at 9:30 a. m. A series of discussions on "Every Pupil Test" will feature the morning session. The following topics will be discussed by teachers: physics, Supt. C. A. Slinger of Morris; history, Supt. M. J. Pomeroy of Morris; high school English, Miss Annette Nicholson, English instructor at Prospect; mathematics, Supt. J. A. McKnight of Green Camp; chemistry, J. D. Teller, science teacher at Waldo; grade English, Miss Lucille Cornet of LaTune.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a yellow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Pope Pius' Talk Will Go Over Both Networks

BY GILSON WRIGHT

EVERY individual station in the two giant broadcasting chains—the National and the Columbia—will broadcast the address of Pope Pius XI Thursday at 10:45 a. m. from Rome.

The Columbia network embraces 78 stations and the NBC chain comprises 74 others, while numerous short waves are expected to join in the transmission.

The Pope will speak in Latin. His address will be the feature of a program marking the ninth anniversary of his coronation as head of the Catholic church.

The talk will inaugurate HVJ, new station given the Vatican by Guglielmo Marconi, wireless pioneer. It is located in the Vatican gardens.

Edgar White Burrill will read John M. Turbell's famous monologue, "The Kneel Lincoln," Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. over the WJZ network.

In the first of a series of programs Wednesday and Thursday which will observe the 122nd anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth.

John Drinkwater, author of the play, "Abraham Lincoln," will talk from London Thursday at noon over the Columbia network, while Thursday at 1:30 p. m. a special Lincoln program will be broadcast over the NBC network.

Charles Curtis will head the list of speakers.

James E. West, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will be interviewed by Grantland Rice during the broadcast over WEAF and stations Wednesday at 10:30 p. m.

Howard Marsh, who created the title role in "The Student Prince," will make his second appearance as guest artist with Nathaniel Shilkret's orchestra over WEAF and stations Wednesday at 8:30 p. m.

Owen Davis, author of more than 300 plays, whose "Icebound" won the Pulitzer prize, will be the guest speaker in a program over Columbia stations Thursday at 11:15 a. m.

Nikolai Orloff, pianist, who has toured continuously since leaving Russia in 1922, will be the guest artist on the Columbia concert program over Columbia stations Wednesday at 10:30 p. m.

Mrs. Edna Woolman Chase, international fashion authority, will be the guest speaker on the second style broadcast to be heard over Columbia stations Thursday at 11:45 a. m.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, are to speak during a program over Columbia stations Wednesday at 7 p. m. climaxing "annual day" at Columbia university.

Sumner Blossom, editor of the American magazine and a veteran newspaper man, will be Bill Schudt's guest speaker in the Going to Press period over Columbia stations Wednesday at 6 p. m.

The Detroit Symphony orchestra, Victor Kolar conducting, will broadcast a program during the American School of the Air period over Columbia stations Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

The "Power Trust," a subject of wide interest at the present time, will be discussed from the viewpoint of one of the outstanding public utility executives of the country on the Old Counselor program Wednesday at 9 p. m., over an NBC network. The speaker will be Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities company.

Making some one like you who is disposed not to, is one of life's greatest triumphs.

ROBIN HOOD DAYS MAY RETURN HERE

Board Chairman Proposes Archery Ranges in Recreation Spots.

It will be added to the recreational activities of dreams of several archery fans are
this summer.
Marion parks providing archery range, and setting for such sport.
The fans think it is no secret that the sport
has been popular since the popular ball in the last year has proven that outdoor sports are popular and everyone can play
with the bow and arrow.

ENDS 2 YEARS OF "INDIGESTION" IN SURPRISING WAY

There's good news for all stomach troubles in the sensation being created by a simple discovery, due to the quick, easy way it relieves so-called "indigestion," and its symptoms of gas, bloating, belching, heartburn, nausea, heartburn, etc.
"Pape's Diapepsin," as it is called,
is like candy—and is just as harmless. No narcotics or pain-killers in it. Nothing habit-forming.
Sooner swallowed than pain relief, normal digestion is restored.
Thousands are so enthusiastic over the results they are securing that they simply have to tell their experiences to help others. Here's what Miss Irma Linn, 1004 East
Washington St., Des Moines, Iowa, has to say:

"I am not at all nervous now and do not suffer any more from gas, heartburn or that heavy
feeling in the stomach after the meal.
No indigestion, pastries or anything without discomfort."

"I owe a lot to the friend who started on Pape's Diapepsin.
After my two years' suffering from indigestion in a surprising way."

"All druggists sell Pape's Diapepsin." Write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., for a FREE sample box."

women, who find it fully as interesting but not so difficult as some of the more strenuous sports. Practically every woman's college has a much used archery range, boosters
of the sport assert.

Proponents of the sport say it has become increasingly popular in cities where outdoor sports are popular.
Through a series of league contests for the city championship.

Should archery become established here, Marion parks would become all the more popular as an outdoor center during summer months. Already each park has been equipped with recreation ball diamonds. Improvements made last fall and this spring will make them more ideal for picnics and reunions.

Anyone interested in promoting archery as a sport here may learn more about the possibilities of inaugurating it here from Dr. F. R. Main, chairman of the park board.

DELAWARE, O., Feb. 11—Only foreign dishes will be served at the banquet which will open "International Week" on the Ohio Wesleyan university campus next Saturday.
The observance will be held under the auspices of the Cosmopolitan club, which is composed of students from six foreign countries. Harry Chain, of Canton, China, is president of the organization.

International Week, which will be observed in several meetings on the campus, has as its purpose the fostering of better understanding among students of various nationalities.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Feb. 12

A RATHER routine state of affairs is envisaged by the weak configurations between important planets. The sextile of the luminaries assists to favor and benefits in employment or in dealings with authorities or superiors, and the Moon-Mercury semisquare accelerates business moderately and assists contracts and writings.

Those whose birthday it is may not expect a very important year, as things may move in customary grooves, unless a predisposition to sharp, false and provocative speech precipitate much inharmonious and litigation. A child born on this day should be fairly well endowed for success, especially in employment or in literary callings.

CONCERT SCHEDULED

Special to The Star.
DELAWARE, O., Feb. 11—The Singers' club of Ohio Wesleyan university will give its annual home concert in Gray chapel here
Sunday night. Prof. G. Raymond Hicks, head of the university's music department, will direct. The club has sung in Indiana and Bexley M. E. churches of Columbus within the past few months.

operate as Staum & Moore. Mr.
Moore has been associated with Mr. Staum for the last year, moving to Sycamore from Marion. G.

L. Staum and his father, Jacob Staum started in the undertaking business in Sycamore in 1881 and in 1894 the son bought his father's interest in the establishment.

State W. C. T. U. Worker Speaker in Schools Here

Mrs. Mamie T. Ensign, director of scientific temperance instruction for the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union, is delivering lectures today at the Pleasant and Waldo schools. She arrived here Monday for a series of lectures in the county and city schools and to address the Marion County W. C. T. U. institute here Thursday.

Monday she spoke at the Prospect Institute. Yesterday she was at the LaRue and Agosta schools and Thursday will be in the public schools here before attending the institute Friday. She will speak in the schools.

Mrs. Ensign, whose home is in Defiance, was the guest of the Marion County W. C. T. U. four years ago.

and its economy and long life.

THE NEW FORD has made an unusual record for reliability and long life. In police service it has been driven 100,000 and 120,000 miles under the severest driving conditions. Leading industrial companies operating large fleets of Fords report "satisfactory economical service" after many months and years of constant use. The value of good materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in manufacturing is especially apparent
after the first 25,000 miles.

Throughout the chassis, you find many reasons for the good performance of the Ford.
None is more important than the crankshaft.

The crankshaft is frequently called the heart of the automobile because of the part it plays in transmitting the power developed by the pistons to the flywheel and driveshaft. It must be properly balanced to insure smooth operation. It must be accurate in size to insure proper clearance in the bearings. It must be true in alignment and weight to reduce friction and give long continuous service without adjustment.

The crankshaft of the new Ford has great strength because it is made of carbon manganese
steel, specially developed by Ford metallurgists.
It will resist a twisting stress of 2½ tons at a leverage of twelve inches from its axis.

This illustration shows the Ford cylinder block (A), piston (B), connecting rod (C), flywheel (D), and crankshaft (E). The care with which these parts are made is an important factor in the smoothness, reliability, economy and long life of the new Ford.

The Ford crankshaft is made of special carbon manganese steel and balanced actually and dynamically. It is designed to resist more than 120 checks for accuracy.

In the many steps in its manufacture, the Ford crankshaft is machined and polished to measurements as fine as one-half of a thousandth part of an inch. In all, Ford crankshafts receive more than 150 checks for accuracy.

The greatest care is taken to make sure that the Ford crankshaft will be in perfect balance in all positions and at all speeds. The machines for the dynamic balance tests are set upon foundations of gun rubber and are so delicately adjusted that the very air that surrounds them is first cleaned and then held at 68 degrees by thermo-static control.

Though weighing many pounds, the Ford crankshaft is perfectly balanced so that it will operate motionless when placed upon two perfectly level surfaces.

THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

This popular family sedan is an outstanding example of value far above the price. Its beauty of line, color and upholstery is in keeping with its capable mechanical performance. Among its many features are . . . silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, torque-tube drive,

three-quarter floating rear axle, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, extensive use of steel forgings, Rust-less Steel, quick acceleration, 55 to 65 miles an hour, ease of control, reliability, economy and long life. The first cost of the Ford is low and you save many dollars because of the low cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

Daily Proverb—"Patriotism must be founded on great principles and supported by great virtue."

And just as we were beginning to feel that spring was really on the way, the weatherman unloads a four-inch fall of snow!

The per capita circulation of money in the United States in January dropped to $37.11, the lowest since 1914. The natural result of the psychology of fear!

Three armed robbers were shot and killed and seven others captured the same day by the Chicago police! The Chicago police force must have been reborn.

Dr. Lorado Taft says that "with the most of us the chief preoccupation of life is its continuance." Well, hasn't that been the case with humanity since the beginning?

We'll just naturally have to accept it as a fact that Captain Frank Hawks is inclined to be somewhat fast. Figures show that in the last six months he has flown 25,409 miles at an average speed of a little over three miles a minute.

Mrs. Morris Blossom, of Brockport, New York, became the mother of her twenty-second child, a boy, Tuesday, the oldest of his twenty-one brothers and sisters being twenty-seven. Blossoms have been appearing thick and fast in that household, we'll say.

Can it be possible that the two Arkansas senators, Messrs. Joseph T. Robinson and Thaddeus H. Caraway, do not appreciate the fact that their defense of President Hoover, their expression of confidence in Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and their applauding of the work of the Red Cross is mighty annoying to the senate radicals who are trying to hamstring the administration?

"The mind is like the stomach," remarks Albert Jay Nock. "It is not how much you put into it that counts, but how much you digest." Considering the aches and pains of which humanity is wont to complain in this age of fast living, our stomachs aren't working up to expectations in digesting anywhere near like what is being put into them.

Boy Scout Week.

This is Boy Scout week, and it is being celebrated far and wide, as it is locally, with appropriate exercises and ceremonies in commemoration of the completion by the Boy Scouts of America of an existence of twenty-one years as an organization.

The latest available figures show that the organization has an active membership of 908,818 scouts and 351,008 scouters. Since its foundation, the number of the youths of the land who have reaped benefit from participation in the activities of the organization has been 6,243,310—an impressive total, the more so that it represents a vast army of American youths in whom have been imbedded the seeds of good citizenship.

A few days ago, former President Coolidge made reference to the Boy Scouts of America as an organization upon which may be based a great hope for the future of the nation. As such we of today who are of major years should appreciate it to the full and encourage it in the great work it is doing as it encourages us. Over 5,000,000 boys of America have come under its influence in the formative period of their lives, in the period in which they are most impressionable, and the effect on them could not have been other than the inculcation of principles which speak for a higher standard of manhood and good citizenship which they in the absence of its teachings and practices might not otherwise have attained.

And what the scout movement has done in the past can hardly be other than a prophecy of what it will do in the years to come. Against the 5,000,000 Boy Scouts of the past and present, there will be scores upon scores of millions of Boy Scouts in the coming decades who will grow up to be better men, and better citizens, and better Americans, as a result of the training they have had in the scout movement.

This movement means much to America. At times we are inclined to feel that the extent of its promise to the nation hasn't had the appreciation it deserves. It is easily one of the nation's agencies for the preservation of the highest ideals of American manhood, citizenship and patriotism. Against the many insidious influences and agencies seeking to undermine what is best in us as men and citizens and to work destruction of our governmental institutions and our government itself, the Boy Scout movement should, and will, supply a bulwark to repel attack and preserve America under orderly constitutional government for the generations to come.

As a great up-builder of character, of manhood and of patriotism, let us pay tribute to the Boy Scouts of America.

Farm Board Approaching a Crisis.

Although the senate has passed the independent officers appropriation bill carrying the final $100,000,000 of the farm board's authorized revolving loan fund of $500,000,000, thus providing for the board's activities over the coming crop season, the criticism of the board's price-stabilizing policy has been of such volume and so pointed as to justify the prediction that the board must be prepared for a showdown at the coming winter session of congress or cease to exist.

Criticism of the board centered on its stabilization operations in wheat and cotton, on which, at present market prices, it has lost $70,000,000—$30,000,000 in wheat and $40,000,000 in cotton. Senator Hugh L. Black, of Alabama, offered an amendment to prevent any part of the $100,000,000 being used for trading in futures on grain or cotton exchanges, but the amendment was lost by a vote of twenty-six to fifty-five. It was stated by one senator that the amendment was lost because of the disinclination of the senate to be in a position where it could be accused of interfering with the board at this time, and it was this same disinclination to deny the board what it sought which caused the senate to vote the final authorized $100,000,000, many senators making it clear that they were giving the board what it wants in order that congress may not be blamed for its failure to accomplish results.

But criticism was not limited to the board's exchange operations in the hope of stabilizing prices. The direct charge was made by a number of senators that the operations of the board on the 1930 crop, which did not begin until November, were more beneficial to the bankers than to the farmers for the reason that by that time two-thirds of the wheat had passed from farmer hands and the real benefit accrued to the bankers who had loaned money to the cooperatives with which to buy wheat.

This view is controverted by Chairman Legge, who points out that about $70,000,000 worth of wheat has weekly moved from the farms to the primary markets in recent weeks against about half that amount during the corresponding weeks of last year.

"On the average consumption, the farmer is getting about $3,000,000 a week out of this stabilization on the amount that is actually going into flour in a week in the United States," Mr. Legge recently told the house appropriations committee.

"Now we think that is worth while. I do not know what the final outcome may be, but we feel that if wheat had been allowed to drop twenty-five cents a bushel, and that is where it would be on the Liverpool market today, we would have had another series of bank failures and everything that goes with it here would be pretty serious."

But no matter which view—that of Chairman Legge or the senatorial view—may be the correct one; no matter what the future may prove, the senate has made evident this week that the farm board will either have to make good during the next ten months or face trouble at the coming regular session of congress.

The mayoralty campaign up in Chicago is becoming one of picturesque expression. One of the candidates has been denominated a wart and reference is being made to the Hon. "Big Bill" Thompson as the "Jumbo mayor of gutter tactics."

Governor White is being urged by the Ohio chamber of commerce to cut the state budget $11,000,000 to $11,990,000. Really, $11,990,000 should be enough to run the state, but what's the use of an overwhelming victory if "the boys" are not to profit by it somewhat?

Radio Commissioner Lafont announces that the amount and character of advertising broadcasted over the air must hereafter be rigidly confined within limits consistent with the public service expected of any given station; that broadcasting stations are licensed to serve the public and not for the furthering of private or selfish interests of individuals. The commissioner must have been listening in of late.

South and Central American borrowings in the United States now total $3,510,000,000. No wonder the Latin-Americans do not love us overmuch!

The rather general snow of this week proved a double blessing. It brought moisture to the parched earth in many sections, and in the larger cities gave employment to thousands of unemployed, in New York City alone 20,000 having been engaged in removing snow from the streets.

The British house of commons has been informed by Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of the refusal of the soviet Russian government to permit an investigation of labor conditions in the Russian lumber camps, even by the British embassy staff. Naturally, Mr. Stalin prefers to show Russia to the outside world by the way of those personally-conducted tours which give assurance that nothing will be seen save what Moscow desires seen.

General Pershing's disclosures regarding our lack of preparedness at the time of our entrance into the World war gives us a pretty fair line on what the pacifists would have our condition of preparedness in the future in the event that they can not bring about absolute unpreparedness.

We note that the senate has voted another $100,000,000 for experimentation looking to the overcoming of the law of supply and demand and consequent relief to the country's agricultural interests, but there's no ground for hope that any similar action will ever be taken for the benefit of us hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs. There aren't enough of us to attract the attention of the politicians engaged in fence building.

Six-month sentences to forced labor in the northern lumber camps for absentee workers convicted of drunkenness is reported as having a serious effect on the profits of the Russian vodka monopoly, many workers cutting out vodka to escape the risk drinking the fiery stuff entails. Here's one instance in which the bolshevik government has been unable to play both ends against the middle of a revenue producing game.

IT ALL DEPENDS ON THE VIEWPOINT.

Editorial Opinion.

WAR IN TEN YEARS?

The two great sore spots in Europe today, according to Professor J. K. Pells of the department of political science at the University of Michigan, are disarmament and the Polish corridor question; and if the treaty of Versailles is not drastically revised, says the professor, another European war will break out during the next ten years.

While it is not pleasant to have to agree with such a foreboding, a great deal of circumstantial evidence points out that no permanent peace can be based on the economic and political, as well as the geographical terms arranged at Versailles. They know that the alternatives are powerful revision of those terms, with the consent and cooperation of all parties to them; and the destruction of all treaties by force, which they seem to prefer and apparently are preparing for by immense army and navy budgets and by building a line of defense along their frontier from Switzerland to Luxembourg.

The refusal of France to support any effective steps toward the limitation of land armaments, while insisting that Germany shall remain unarmed, added to the provocative acts of the Poles toward the German minority in the "corridor" which the League of Nations has recently remonstrated against, are ominous signs of approaching trouble. Germany, as Professor Pells told the Women's association of the university the other night, stands as "the key bulwark against communism entering western Europe." The victors at Versailles did their best to submerge Germany and keep her from becoming a center for the communist menace, which would grow in a little more than a decade.

The men who have succeeded the authors of the Versailles treaty in places of responsibility in Europe can plead no such excuse for their blind adherence to an arrangement that tends to produce in Germany conditions that obtainably might induce her, if she can make common cause with the Soviets to free herself from the shackles which France and its Polish and other satellites must upon her wearing. — Detroit Free Press.

JUDGESHIP AS SENATORIAL GIFTS.

Having grown weary of the long controversy between the department of justice and Senator Schall, of Minnesota, over the question whether a federal judgeship was fit for Senator Schall, the position, President Hoover has ended the dispute by informing the senator that his candidate will not be appointed.

As Mr. Hoover says, the initiative in federal appointments lies with the executive, not with senators. The president is in duty bound to ascertain whether persons recommended for federal offices by senators are fit for the positions and then to act in accordance with his own conclusions. However, Mr. Hoover, without a little mordant irony, suggests to the militant Minnesota that he submit eight or ten names of men whom he considers qualified, expressing the hope that from such a list a man entirely worthy of the judgeship in controversy might be selected.

The invitation this extended may not mollify Senator Schall, but at least it points out a way for him to preserve his prestige and obtain the coveted position for one of his lawyer friends.

Senators who prize so highly the privilege of recommending persons for appointment to federal offices in their respective states should not overlook the fact that responsibility for the fitness of appointees rests upon the president. In the circumstances they ought to concede to the executive the right to be a bit particular about the quality of his appointments. — Chicago News.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Saturday, February 11, 1911. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wells, of Waldo.

Marriage licenses were granted to Bertha E. Fisher and Harrison G. Kramer and to Cleo Belle Sweney and George A. Clark.

Mrs. O. S. Rapp and son, Miss Mildred Christian and Miss Hazel Kling left for a visit in Dayton, Florida.

Mrs. Sarah R. Euster and Mr. William H. Horch were married by Rev. George M. Rourke.

Engineer John Darr, of the Erie, suffered a badly-injured right eye when the glass of a lubricator in his cab burst, throwing splinters into that member.

Preventive Medicine.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

We have made great progress against disease. This is shown by the cutting in half of the nation's death rate since 1900.

Much of this decrease, of course, has been among infants. It is believed, however, that it can be made a further great decrease in the present general death rate. Too many people have not as yet availed themselves of what is called "preventive medicine."

Many diseases of infants, children and adults, can and should be prevented. The future of medicine and the future of the nation as a whole, lies not in the curing of diseases, but in the prevention of diseases.

To a remarkable degree, public health can be bought. Unfortunately, there are too many communities that neglect to do the things that prevent disease. There are too many individuals who will not take advantage of their opportunities.

Since the discovery of the toxin-antitoxin control of diphtheria, the death rate of this disease has been reduced ninety-five per cent. If all parents would take their children to physicians for injection against this disease, there would be no diphtheria.

With care in the cleanliness in the homes and city streets, with proper supervision of the water and milk supplies, and protection against flies, typhoid fever, at one time a very common disease, is now comparatively rare. There is now available a vaccine that protects against this disease.

Whenever typhoid fever does exist, it may be said to be due to carelessness. This carelessness is either the fault of the individual or of the community. Ignorance in these matters is almost criminal.

We look forward to the day when preventive medicine and care of the public health will become a national affair. War must be declared on all diseases that can be prevented. The health of the people of the United States and Canada is far better today than it was in 1900, but there still remains much to be done.

This is subject which should be taught in the schools, it should be discussed in the home. The press, the pulpit, the radio—these agents for good should be enlisted even more than they now are in spreading health-knowledge.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

ARTIE. Q—What do you advise for psoriasis?

A—First attention must be given the digestion. Constipation is an important factor and, though the bowels move daily, there may be sluggishness.

MRS. E. L. C. Q—I am irritable, thin, pale and worn from nursing my husband through a long siege of illness. What can I do to build up my general health?

A—in order to gain weight and build up your general health, I would suggest that you eat nourishing foods and have plenty of sleep and rest.

MRS. D. A. Q—Is mineral oil fattening?

A—No, it is merely lubricating.

E. R. T. Q—What do you advise for arthritis?

A—This disease is often stubborn in yielding to treatment. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for literature and repeat your question. Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Revealing Pluto as a Planet.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Shortly after the discovery of a trans-neptunian celestial body by the astronomers of the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Arizona, the Lowell observatory announced the discovery of a new body. After weeks of careful investigation, the astronomers at Lowell observatory announced it to be a planet. A number of astronomers in both England and Europe, as well as a few in the United States, raised doubts as to the nature of the new celestial object. Some even went so far as to pronounce it a comet.

The difficulty arose from the very small number of observations on the object, which was exceedingly remote. It is essential to know the exact position of the object at a good many different times over an extended interval of time, to be able to determine the eccentricity of the body's orbit, for the path of the object, which is of necessity that of a comet, is determined directly from its eccentricity.

By means of a few positions known, the eccentricity was estimated, and certain astronomers actually plotted the resulting orbit of the body, and found it to be cometary.

By great good fortune, new and earlier data regarding the body has now been discovered. Officials at many observatories searched through thousands of photographs to see if they could discover the body caught on any of the plates. It was so tiny that it might well have escaped their notice. Finally several photographic plates made in 1919 showed the body beyond any possibility of error. These new positions, combined with those already known, supplied the additional data needed to determine with considerable reliability the orbit of the new body.

It is now definitely determined that the new body, known as Pluto, is really a planet revolving in space beyond the orbit of Neptune. The orbit has been determined, after elaborate calculations, by Dr. Seth B. Nicholson and Dr. U. Mayall at the Mount Wilson observatory.

At first the astronomers who believed it was a planet calculated its orbit from the original meager data, and concluded that it was an extremely elongated ellipse. Other astronomers believed that it was still more elongated, and that it would take many thousands of years to make a circuit of the sun.

It has now been found that the eccentricity of the orbit is .25; and consequently the orbit is elliptical, not differing greatly from circular. Pluto will revolve around the sun in a "year" equal to 25 1/2 of our years. It is now approaching the sun, and will reach the nearest point to the sun on June 5, 1935. At that date it will be 2,760,000,000 miles away from the sun, about the same distance as Neptune, the farthest known planet until Pluto's discovery. The newly-computed orbit agrees with the position of Pluto shown on a photograph made at Harlow, in 1927. Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Fort Ball and Fort Seneca.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

A letter from W. E. Bovey of Old Fort, Ohio, points out an error of ours recently in a story regarding Fort Ball. General Harrison's headquarters during the War of 1812, and that it took nearly two entire days to get the news of Perry's victory from the scene of the battle to General Harrison's headquarters, at Fort Ball.

Bovey points out that General Harrison's headquarters were not at Fort Ball, but at Fort Seneca. The site of Fort Ball was, as stated, within the present boundaries of Triffin. But Fort Seneca was near the west bank of the Sandusky river and fully ten miles north of Triffin. So the distance to be covered by the dispatch bearer was shorter by so much than estimated in the former story.

The place where Fort Seneca stood is now called Old Fort, but the postoffice is not where it was originally located. Bovey explains that when the Harrison trail was improved, the postoffice was moved to a new site, and the postmaster moved his office a mile west and two miles south to a crossroads, a new location for both the postoffice and the store which he operated in conjunction.

"That is why," Bovey says, "we have an inland hamlet today named Fort Seneca, and that is why, after the Nickel Plate railroad was built and a station was established here, the place was given the name of Old Fort to indicate that it was the true position of the Harrison headquarters in 1812. General Harrison was also at his headquarters here at the time of the gallant defense of Fort Stephenson by Major George Croghan." But, getting back to the original proposition, it appears in the light of a correct knowledge of the facts that it took forty-eight hours to cover about sixty-five miles with news of the victory over the British fleet.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 11—Last evening I met an actor and actress who are teamed up in a smutty blackout in a revue. It is a skit portraying a libidinous undressing scene in a room with off-color comment that would make a self-respecting burlesque theatergoer blush. The coloring of a cafe they were different.

Nor do I believe they were "acting." He addressed her formally and in strictly drawing-room manner. Their conversation was that of two clean-minded persons over coffee cups. It was such a disillusionment I later questioned the actor.

He said: "She is a lady who is unfortunately cast in a vulgar part. It is no more a phase of her than jazz would be in a cathedral. She may have noticed she smokes cigarette after cigarette in our sketch. They were cigars, and does not even use tobacco."

This on and off demeanor of stage folk is a phenomenon difficult to grasp. Yet it does exist. As a press agent for Ziegfeld, the ladies, appearing nightly and scantily dressed in tableaux vivants, were asked to appear in a stocktaking episode in Central park.

All stoutly refused. On the stage they are guarded propriety as art. But off stage a more genuine for tabloid exploitation—something cheaply vulgar. And no amount of suggestion could induce them otherwise.

Earl Carroll tells me that in many instances ladies of his ensemble who did not hesitate a second to appear in skimpily garbed in the light of stage lights, most modest and demure in the company. They blushed easily, and others, show a naivete.

On the other hand many hard-boiled actresses are cast for softly feminine roles. In these parts their cultural attainments are superbly drawn. Yet off stage they gush and swear like steamboilers and otherwise to the oddly depressing merriment of clubs.

A wealthy New Yorker with a big estate on coastal South Carolina has a number of black employees, reared in the section. Excellent servants, they are paid wages of thirty years ago. Recently dissension developed. News of successful brothers and sisters up north reached them. They were tired of the owner heard they were to quit. He knew an aged servant called dropped. So in the living room after dinner, he winked at a guest and observed: "I see by New York papers that negroes are homeless in the city and that 4,000 slept in the snow last night in Central park." No more rumbles from the servant quarters!

From an evening paper: "When he entered his office he seemed perturbed. He frowned a great times and pushed a paper off his desk with a rustle. When his secretary arrived, he only half smiled."

Got a guy like that, really mad and he'll pinch you!

Those who used to sneak up back alleys and crawl through a hole to land the news, paper scoop look back on our exploits with a wistful sigh. On Park row today the "scoop" or "beat" receives little notice. Instead of fighting each other, newspapermen learned that in unity is strength and in this show sense, a "scoop" was rarely known outside newspaper circles anyway.

The "scoop" caused the greatest personal embarrassment I ever knew. The home paper carried the headline "Local Boy Off for Big City Newspaper Post." The post was a $12 a week cub-reportership. Three weeks later I was home again picking my teeth in front of the Park Central and hoping something would turn up in the way of employment.

I still think scooping me was shabby. With a reporter on the opposition paper I was to watch the home of a banker suspected of huge defalcation. He lived in a lonely suburb. Long after midnight with everything quiet I slipped off to a depot short order restaurant for a sandwich. Before going back to the job I teleph wets in Ohio to get rid of the whole prohibition regime. The Marion resolution petitions congress to call a national convention to consider retention, revision or repeal of the 18th amendment. It requests that delegates to the convention be elected at large from the several states, and that any proposal submitted by the states be considered by the convention or its delegates chosen for that purpose only, instead of providing for consideration by the state legislatures. If three-fourths of the states so petition congress that body is required to act.

Legionnaires Hear Dr. Turley, Donithen

An address on Lincoln by Dr. L. Turley of the Epworth M. E. church, and a similar eulogy of Washington by Alfred Donithen, former prosecuting attorney of Marion county, featured the regular meeting of the Marion County American Legion, last night at the dugout.

Approximately 75 members were present. Music was furnished by the First Presbyterian church orchestra.

ways. On the tracks it rolls on regular steel wheels. Arrived at the end of its rail journey, rubber tires are lowered below the level of the steel car wheels, which are inside of the wheels with pneumatic rubber tires.

And the coach motor bus or truck is ready to leave the rails and finish its journey on the highway.

If our railroads used such vehicles, motor trucks and buses could not successfully compete with railroads because of the cost of the road.

And the value of the railroads' rights of way would be at least doubled.

DEAN WILL APPEAR AT FARM INSTITUTE

Radnor Will Open Meetings Thursday Night; To Close Friday.

Special to The Star
RADNOR, Feb. 11.—"Marion Ohio Beautiful," an illustrated talk by Dean Alfred Vinton of Ohio State university, will be the feature of the opening session of the Farmers' Institute here Thursday night in the town hall.

Four sessions will be held Thursday night and all day Friday. Talks will be given Friday morning and afternoon by Miss Edna Callahan of Ohio State university and E. L. Bonifant, Friday noon a covered dish dinner will be served. I. P. Blausner will talk Friday night.

Friday afternoon students of the local high school will present the one-act play, "When Father Goes on a Diet." Officers will be elected Friday night. In addition all sessions will feature music and programs of readings and recitations.

Exhibits of grain and real estate will be on hand. Nine classes will be open in the household division while the grain department will have 10 classes.

Chairmen of the various meetings will be Stanley Humphreys, Lawrence J. Schaaf and Mrs. Joseph Dill.

WOOLWORTH STORE WILL REOPEN SOON

Work on Building Damaged by Fire Progresses Rapidly.

The Woolworth store, whose contents were almost completely destroyed by the fire which swept out the medieval-looking building at No. 20, probably will be reopened on either Feb. 22 or March 7, E. C. Sage, who is in charge of the reconstruction and workmen are attempting to get the lower floor, where the store is located, in shape for the reopening.

Although the official opening is set for either Saturday, Feb. 20, or Saturday, March 7, it will be preceded by an open house on Friday, Feb. 27, or Saturday, March 6.

While the store is expected to be opened within two weeks, the other parts of the building probably will not be ready for use until later. The Marion Business College and 10 office rooms formerly occupied the upper floors of the building.

The fire occurred on the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 26, and caused damage estimated at approximately $80,000.

LEGAL NOTICE
Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Trustees of Tully Township, Marion County, Ohio, at the office of Tully Township, at the Township House, at 25th day of March, 1931, at two o'clock, P. Mrs. W. N. Jonison and Douglas Smith will receive the awards for high score in a series of five benefit card parties given by Sandusky Tribe No. 99, Improved Order of Red Men, the card committee announced at a lodge meeting last night. The second series will start Thursday night.

Tonight the lodge is giving a benefit dance at 8:30 p. m. at the hall. A social hour followed the lodge meeting last night. A meeting will be held in one week.

MARION POLICE TO ASK RETURN OF MAN

Washington C. H. Authorities Holding Alleged Defrauder of Local Merchants.

Marion police have asked for custody of Byron Rose, 27, alias J. J. Madison, now held by Washington C. H. officials in connection with a confidence game used to victimize radio dealers in Marion and other cities.

Although it is doubtful that Rose will be turned over to local authorities until he has been prosecuted on charges for operating the game in other cities, police say the request for his custody was made to assure justice for two local dealers victimized by the scheme before Rose is released.

Operating the same ruse he used in other cities under various names, Rose came here Jan. 24, apparently established living quarters here and took out radio from the Monarch Printing & Supply Co. and the Standard Home Utilities. He left Marion without paying for the instruments, which he allegedly took with him.

Police in Cincinnati are also holding Max Frank, music store proprietor, whom authorities have charged with providing an outlet for the stolen radios Rose obtained.

Dismal Picture Exists in Ohio's Drouth Area

Seventeen Counties, Suffering from Long Dry Spell and Unemployment, in Urgent Need of All Possible Aid from More Fortunate.

Editors Note: This is the first of a series of articles describing conditions and relief plans generally and locally in Ohio's drouth area.

REBUT, O., Feb. 11—Ohio's seventeen counties, embracing its western and its destitute sections, are as dismal to the eye as a patch of black drawn on a white relief committee's map of the drouth area. The drouth area is drawn diagonally from the northwest corner of the state to the southeast corner of the state. The counties are urgently in need of all the help the state can give and more. What the state and as much as anything right now means the state nor any other agency of man can supply. It is rain.

Water Problem Serious—The lack of moisture over the prolonged drouth period has left most of the area without an adequate water supply. Farmers who saw their crops dwindle and their pastures wither under the heat of last summer's sun are now fighting for water for themselves and their families as well as their livestock. Even the small city dwellers within the area have seen the wells and streams that supplied them unfailingly for decades sucked dry by the famine.

But the drouth lent the only problem heaped upon the relief agencies. It is a burden added to those which go with business depression and unemployment. To the thousands in the mining regions, who have known nothing but bad luck for 10 years, the water famine is just another eruption of an old sore, but a serious one.

Those who reside on the farms chiefly the renting farmers and those in the villages and towns are equally hard hit.

Organizations Help Many—The number of families being fed by the Red Cross, by Parent-Teacher organizations and other relief bodies extends high into the thousands but an accurate compilation probably will not be available for several months. The number increases daily.

The creaking of wagons and trucks sounds on nearly every highway in the area. They are hauling water from the few sources that are left to places where it is most needed. The distance traveled by a farmer to get water for his stock and his home needs is anywhere from three to six miles.

Governor White's relief committee, through the state highway department and the department of health, has attacked the water famine and the unemployment situation jointly.

In eight of the twenty-five counties 160 highway maintenance jobs were being worked today by destitute men. They were selected by local committees. The counties are, Ross, Adams, Lawrence, Highland, Jackson, Scioto, Pike and Tuscarawas.

In some of the counties which have filled their quotas the men will work for a week. They'll receive the first pay they have had in months. Then they will make way for others and the relief will be distributed.

Will Drill New Wells—During this week a health department engineer will visit every county to tap the ground for new wells that will be deeper and more lasting.

The earth in Ohio generally is so dry that even the deep subsoil contains no moisture and in Pike county one farmer reported it was a tough job to plow.

And every report reminds the state that the farmers will need credit to buy seed and fertilizer for spring. C. L. West of the federal crop reporting service said that the drouth is now in its most critical period because foodstuffs all have been used and farmers are forced to sacrifice what livestock they have.

PHYSICAL DEFECTS MAY CAUSE CRIME

Correction of Prisoners' Health Seen as Next Step in Prison Reform.

By International News Service—SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Correction of physical defects of criminals will be the next big step in prison reform, according to a report to be submitted to President Hoover's law enforcement commission by Dr. H. B. Boram of South Bend, and Dr. W. A. Gould of Chicago.

Dr. Gould was named by the commission to make a study of the physical condition of criminals and he selected Dr. Boram as his assistant.

The two physicians examined 100 men picked at random from the federal prison at Atlanta.

"Without exception, the men were physically defective and in every case except two, the ailments found might have had a direct influence on the crimes for which the men are in prison," Dr. Boram said.

"Physical wrongs are often the cause of mental wrongs." So convinced have we become of this since our investigation that we feel crime could be greatly diminished, should the criminals be made well physically.

"It would be rash to say that every person with a physical ailment is criminally minded, or that every criminal has something the matter with his body. But it is a fact that many prisoners would not be serving time today if defects they possess had been corrected earlier in their life.

"The criminal impulse is one of disease and not of health. The normal man does not harbor thoughts of criminal deeds in his mind. It is usually the disordered person who thinks and acts contrary to the social order."

Escaped Prisoner Boasts Way Back to Sing Sing

NEW YORK—Advice to 'prisoners who scale the walls of Sing Sing from the inside and swim the Hudson river to freedom: don't talk about it.

Anthony Cardinale made his escape in that fashion and fled from a 10-year sentence for grand larceny.

But he did it so well that he boasted about it. His boasts came to the ears of detectives, who picked him up and took him back to prison.

LAS CRUCES, N. M.—Total crop returns of the Rio Grande federal irrigation project show an average loss of $24 an acre over 1929, according to figures released by L. R. Flock, project superintendent. The total value of the crops was $2,104,920, as compared with $10,444,070 for 1929.

Flashes of Life

PARIS—Believers in omens are noting with various deductions that the name of the new premier, Laval, reads the same forward and backward. It's not uncommon in France. There are the towns of Yoyon and Senones for instance.

FOOCHOW, China—The bridge of Ten Thousand Ages, one of the wonders of old Cathay and the delight of tourists, is losing some of its beauty in modernization. Formerly only a dozen feet wide, it was only large enough for pedestrians. It is being made 20 feet wide so autos can use it to cross the Min river. It was built about 1,500.

WASHINGTON—Senator Fess asking congress to put George Washington's face on quarters because of Washington's 200th birthday next year.

NEW YORK—A fire that has burned 25 feet underground for 18 years has come to light. It was found in excavations for new buildings on Rinker's Island in Long Island sound, an island made by the dumping of refuse by the city. Over the fire two crops of vegetables have been grown annually. There never is snow on the island in contrast to some of its neighbors.

SEBASTOPOL—Huge stone coffins containing the remains of men who inhabited Crimea during the bronze age have been found by an expedition of the Russian Academy.

Driving make you dry?

try Black Jack

Its licorice soothes the throat

EVERYBODY knows that licorice is a famous cure for sore throats. And Black Jack is made with licorice — sweet, candy licorice that is loved the wide world over.

Just try a stick of Black Jack next time you take a ride — or when you smoke too much, or a cold brings soreness to your throat.

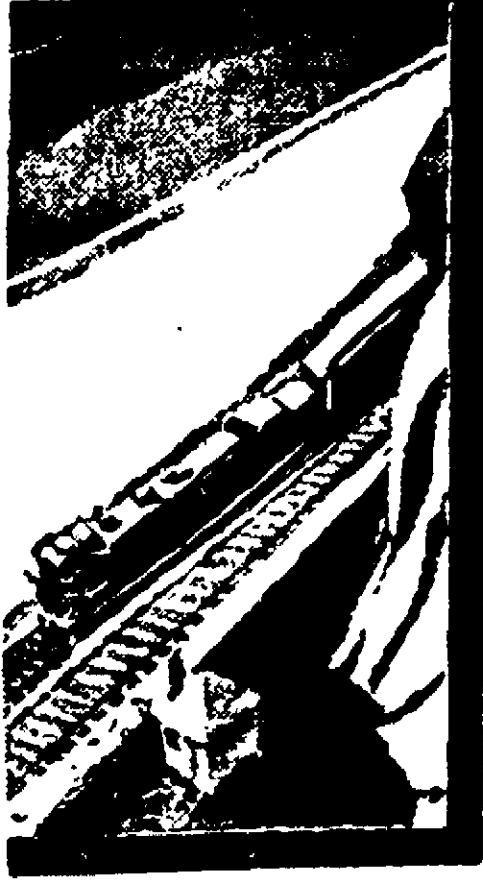

You'll soon see how wonderfully soothing and refreshing its licorice-trickle is — and how you'll love that mild, delicious licorice flavor! You can buy Black Jack everywhere.

GULF NO-NOX ETHYL

Get the BEST ... from Your Motor

Automotive engineers and motor car builders have greatly improved motor car efficiency by increasing compression. The car owner—the motorist—should maintain this efficiency by the use of proper anti-knock motor fuel.

No-Nox Ethyl Stops Knocks

... eliminates even the faintest click or ping. This assures a lightning getaway in traffic with a smooth fast pick up—makes traffic a pleasure. It's a great victory—a great service to the motorist.

Another desirable feature of No-NOX ETHYL is its extremely low end point which gives it an instant vaporizing quality for quick easy starting on coldest days and adds an exhilarating power.
